VALUING PEOPLE NOW

Learning Disabilities Partnership Board annual self assessment report - 2010/11

LDP BOARD BRIEF – 24 May, 2011

Background

- In the Valuing People Now summary report 2009/10, the Care Services Minister said the annual self assessment report gave clear information so that local people can see what progress has been made in improving services for people with learning disabilities.

- All 152 partnership boards completed the report. This showed that partnership boards want to improve services everywhere.

Why complete an annual self assessment report ?

- Local partnership boards can use information from their annual self assessment report to make sure people with learning disabilities are represented in health and social care structures.

- The report will help partnership boards give clear information to the local Health and Wellbeing Boards, HealthWatch, GP commissioners and new health and social care outcomes frameworks.

- The report will also make sure that key partners including people with a learning disability and family carers, their support organisations and a wide range of local agencies and providers work together, to make sure that the local delivery of Valuing People Now continues to be strong.

Changes to 2010/11 template

- Some changes have been made to the form to make it easier to complete and to reduce extra work to be undertaken.

- The key questions are more straightforward and ask for less detail.

- The 2010/11 form concentrates on collecting information on health, housing and employment.

What Information to collect

- All information is about the financial year 1 April 2010 until 31 March 2011 unless the report says otherwise.

How we will do this in Wirral

- It is Russell Grants' responsibility to make sure the self assessment is completed on time. Russell Kennedy and Tess Szymanska will help make this happen.

- The annual self assessment report template is attached (with responsibility for action clearly marked in red). The Board is asked to note identified leads to take responsibility for completion of sections.
